

David's Birthday Present

By Johnson Ng

Today is David's birthday. Kelly and Tom are talking about David's birthday. They want to buy a present for David. Kelly suggests, 'Let's go to the toy shop to buy a present.' Tom says, 'Great!'

Then, they go to Fun Toy Shop. They see a lot of toys. There are teddy bears, robots, and cars. They are beautiful. Tom asks, 'What does David like?' Kelly replies, 'He likes toy cars. Let's go to the toy shop to buy a toy car.' Tom says, 'It is a good idea.' They are very excited.

After that, they want to buy a colourful toy car because he likes it. Kelly asks, 'How much is the car?' The shopkeeper replies, 'It is fifty-five dollars.' Tom shouts loudly, 'Oh no! I don't have enough money! Sorry, Kelly. I haven't got enough money!' They are disappointed.

Tom says, 'Let's go home and borrow some money.' When they go home, they see Mum. Tom asks, 'I need to borrow some money. Can you give me some?' Mum says, 'I can give it to you but you have to give me a reason.' Tom says, 'Because today is David's birthday. I want to buy him a toy car. Is it OK?' Mum says, 'OK.' They are excited because they can buy the car.' They give the present to David at his birthday party. David says, 'I like the toy car. Thank you!'

What a great day!
