

My Mum is a Superhero!

My mum is a vet. Many people think being a vet is easier than being a doctor. But I think being a vet is meaningful, hard and unique.

My mum has a lot of work to do every day. First, she needs to find out what happens to her 'Little Patient' with a little stethoscope carefully. Then she needs to give them the correct medicine and tell their owners when to give the medicine to their animals. Sometimes my mum also shows the owners how to give the medicine to them. She also helps the animals wash up sometimes!

My mum thinks a vet needs most is a kind heart. She is a model of having a kind heart. She doesn't refuse any patients. Oppositely, she tries her best to cure the animals and makes them healthier.

One time, an injured dog called 'Cooke' broke its leg. My mum decided to do an operation for it. After it was anaesthetized, it miraculously ran away! But after a few seconds, it fell on the floor. Cooke's owner, Eddie laughed so much that he got a stomachache! It was so funny and interesting, wasn't it?

I admire my mum. I love her voice, her action and her emotions when she cures an animal. She is both a good vet and a good mother. And I think my mum is a superhero!
