David's Birthday Present

By Yeung Cheuk Ting, Chuck (3A)

On Sunday, Kelly goes to Tom's home. They both look at the calendar on the wall. It is David's birthday. They want to buy a present for him. They are both excited.

A few minutes later, Kelly and Tom go to the Fun Toy Shop. There are many kinds of toys. There is a duck, a toy plane, a toy UFO, a teddy bear, a toy robot and a toy dinosaur. They are delighted.

Next, they decide to buy a remote-controlled car.

'I want to buy a remote-controlled car, but how much is it?' asks Kelly. The shopkeeper replies, 'It's fifty-five dollars, please.' Tom takes out his wallet. 'Ouch, I don't have enough money. I only have fifty dollars,' says Tom. Kelly finds her wallet and says, 'Hey, I have five dollars. Yeah, we can buy this remote-controlled car!' Suddenly, they see a poster. It says that they can buy one and get one free. 'Wow!' said Kelly and Tom. Now, they are not worried.

Soon, Kelly and Tom are going to David's home to have a party. They give the gift to David. They play together and they are very joyful.

An Interesting Lesson

By Lin Pak Yu, Angela (3B)

Today, Mary and her classmates are having a GE lesson in their classroom. Mary likes GE lessons. Their teacher is teaching them about frogs. Mary and her classmates listen to what the teacher says. They are very excited.

Soon, the teacher shows them a frog. They are very delighted. Mary shouts, 'Wow! It is a frog!' The teacher says, 'Yes, it is a real frog!' Her classmates say, 'We want to play with the frog.' The teacher says, 'Okay, but you have to be careful!' They are very joyful.

Suddenly, the frog jumps on Mary's arm. Mary screams, 'Oh my goodness!' All of her classmates run away from the classroom. The frog licks Mary. She wants to cry. They are all very scared.

Later, her teacher chases the frog and catches it. Mary says, 'Thanks a lot!' After that, she goes to the hospital and calls her mum. Her classmates come to visit her.

What an unlucky day for Mary!

An Accident

By Mak Cheuk Yin, Jeff (3C)

One fine morning, Ann and her classmates are in Sai Kung Country Park. There is a pond in the park. They are playing near the pond. They are all joyful.

A few minutes later, Ann and her friends are playing hide-and-seek happily. Thomas is flying a kite. Some ducks are swimming in the pond. Everybody is happy.

Suddenly, Thomas falls into the pond. He cries, 'Help! Help!' Ann and her friends shout, 'Oh no! We are coming to help you!' They are worried and upset.

In the end, Ann and her friends pull him out of the pond. Thomas says, 'Thank you all. You save my life.' Ann says, 'That's ok. We are friends!' They are very relieved.

What a lucky day for Thomas!

Mum's Birthday Breakfast

By Fang Yu Qing, Cindy (3D)

One morning, Mary and dad are at home. They talk about mum's birthday. "Today is mum's birthday. Let's make some surprises for mum," says Mary. Dad says, "How about a birthday breakfast?" "OK! Let's make fried eggs," says Mary. Dad smiles. They both feel excited.

Soon, dad and Mary start to make the fried eggs. First, Mary beats two eggs. Then, dad puts some oil into a pan and turns on the heat. Next, Mary puts the egg mixture into the pan. Dad starts to fry it. He fries it for three minutes. They are busy.

Then, dad fries some cucumbers and sausages. He fries them for five minutes. After that, Mary uses the cooked sausages and cucumbers to make a smiley face on mum's plate. Now, they only need to wait for mum to get up. They both feel joyful.

Finally, mum gets up, but dad and Mary go upstairs. Mum shouts, "Mary, dad, where are you?" Suddenly, dad and Mary go downstairs and say, “Surprise!” “Oh, this is so nice of you!” says mum and she gives them a big hug. They are all happy.

What a wonderful day!

David's Birthday Present

By Wang Yu Tung Michelle (3D)

It is the 2nd day of September. Kelly and Tom are at home. Kelly says, 'Today is our friend, David's birthday. What can we do?' 'Maybe we can buy a present for him,' Tom replies. They are pleased.

Then, Kelly and Tom go to the Fun Toy Shop. There are a lot of toys in the shop window. Tom says, 'This store looks great! Let's go in and take a look.' They are excited.

After they go into the shop, Kelly says, 'Look, there's a remote-controlled car. David will love it. How much is it?' 'It's fifty-five dollars,' the shopkeeper replies. Tom looks in his wallet and shouts, 'Oh my goodness! I only brought fifty dollars! We don't have enough money!' They are now worried.

At last, the shopkeeper says, 'You're lucky. Today is a special offer day. You can get five dollars off.' Kelly and Tom shout, 'Great!' They buy the remote-controlled car with fifty dollars. They are joyful!

What a lucky day!

A Bad Day

By Wang Yuen Ting, Apple (3D)

It is Saturday afternoon. The weather is sunny. Jim and his friends are playing football together in the playground. They all like playing football. Jim is happy. He says cheerfully, "I love this ball game."

After a short time, though, the sky becomes dark. The weather changes from sunny to cloudy. The kids in the park start to argue about whether they should go home or not. Jim is getting angry. He shouts, "You all are wrong! I am going to stay here to play. If you want to play, then listen to me." Many choose to continue to play football.

Suddenly, the sky begins to rain heavily. The ground gets wet. They stop playing, and find some shelter. Jim says regretfully, "Sorry, I didn't know that it was going to rain." They start to feel uncomfortable.

Finally, they decide to go to Jim's home to take a rest. But Jim's mum sees that Jim is getting sick. His mum announces sadly, "Jim is sick. He can't play with you anymore today." Everyone is sad.

What a bad day!

A Bad Day

By Lam Tsz Shan, Toby (3E)

It is Sunday. Jim and his friends play football in the football court. The weather is sunny at first. Jim and his friends play happily. They chase the football excitedly. They feel terrific.

Suddenly, the sky turns dark. There are many thick clouds but they do not know that the weather is changing quickly. They want to play football all day. They keep playing football very happily, until Jim notices that it is going to rain soon. Jim is worried.

After a short time, it starts raining. They get wet from 'head to toe.' Jim asks everyone, 'What can we do now?' Someone says, 'I see that there is a café. Let's go there and have some afternoon tea.' They are feeling cold, so they all agree.

In a little while, they have afternoon tea. Then the rain stops. Jim says, 'Let's go to my house, we can play with my toys.' They say, 'Okay.' They leave the café feeling joyful.

What an unforgettable day!

An Interesting Lesson

By Cheung Cho Yu, Joey (3F)

Today, Mary and her classmates are in the classroom. They are having a General Studies lesson. Their teacher is talking about frogs. Mary likes frogs, because she thinks they are funny. Therefore, she is paying attention to her teacher.

Then, they walk over to the General Studies room. They see a real frog for the first time. The frog is in a box. The frog says, "Croak! Croak! Croak!" They are amazed.

Suddenly, the frog jumps out of the box. The frog jumps onto Mary. Her classmates run away. They are all shocked.

Finally, the teacher asks the monitor to find the school helper. She uses a net to catch the frog. Then she puts the frog back into the box. They are relieved.

What an exciting day!

A Special Dinner

By Leung Wing Sze, Vincy (4A)

Last Sunday evening, Mum, Dad, my brother and I went to a hotel restaurant to have a buffet dinner. We were excited.

At the dinner, Dad had a plate of curry with some rice. 'Aargh! I need water! This curry is too spicy!' said Dad. Mum ordered a plate of steak. 'Urgh, this steak is overcooked. I can't eat this,' said Mum.

When I grabbed a plate of cakes, I was delighted. 'It is the best cakes in the world,' I said. Next, my brother piled a plate full of sushi. He thought the sushi was very yummy. So my brother and I were very happy.

Then, my brother wanted to eat some ice-cream. But when the waiter served my brother ice-cream, it was wasabi instead! 'Why is the ice-cream so spicy?' asked my brother.

In the end, Mum and Dad were very angry. They said, 'This restaurant is awful. We spent too much money for this. We will never come here again.' We left very unhappy.

When I Was in Kindergarten

By Wan Tsz Hin, Jacob (4B)

When I was three years old, I started school. My school was in Sheung Shui. It was small but clean. I liked my school very much.

When I was in kindergarten, I could tie my shoelaces by myself. Also, I could comb my hair by myself. However, I could not brush my teeth by myself. I could not pack my school bag by myself either. I felt upset.

One day, I asked my sister to teach me. Then I practiced hard. The next day, I could pack my school bag and brush my teeth by myself. My sister said, 'Excellent! You are very smart.'

Now, I am nine years old. I can do a lot of things by myself because my sister teaches me a lot. I can change my uniform and carry my school bag by myself. Also, I can do my homework and study for tests by myself. I am more confident and happy now.

A Shopping Experience

By Li Lok Lam, Natalie (4C)

Last Sunday, mum and Peter wanted to buy fruit at Tai Tai Market. Peter said, 'Mum, I want to eat some apples.' Mum said, 'Okay, let's go to an apple stall to buy some apples then.' They were excited.

Next, mum and Peter walked to the apple stall. Peter said, 'Mum! These apples look very yummy.' Mum said, 'Yes.' Peter said, 'Mum, the apples are twenty dollars for four!' Mum said, 'Okay, can you help me to choose the apples, please?' Peter said, 'Okay, mum.' They were happy.

Later, Peter saw a man take a woman's purse from her handbag. The man looked at Peter. Peter became scared. Peter said, 'Oh, no!' Then, he ran to tell his mum.

Peter told his mum that the man took the woman's purse. After that, mum shouted, 'Stop!' Then the woman saw the man and said, 'What are you doing?' The man ran away and threw the purse on the ground. The woman said, 'Thank you!' Peter and his mum were happy!

A Special Dinner

By Liao Man Han, Lisa (4D)

One Saturday afternoon, a strong, black-haired Mr. Lee, and a kind, pretty fit Mrs. Lee, took a cute and friendly Mary, and an outgoing and careless Tom, to a new restaurant called 'Yum Yum Good Restaurant.' They would choose the food that they wanted to eat, and they were getting excited.

Once they arrived, the Lees sat down on pink wooden chairs at one of the blue plastic tables there. Then Mrs. Lee ordered beef. She used a sharp silver metal fork and a knife to cut the beef, but the beef was too tough. Mr. Lee ordered curry. The curry was too spicy. The Lees began to get upset.

Meanwhile, Mary and Tom happily chatted to each other. Mary ate a slice of yummy cake. Tom ate some delicious sushi. Mary drank some orange juice.

They put their food on a big, round, white plate. They felt happy with what they were given to eat. They even wanted to eat more cakes and sushi.

After the Lees ate their main course, Tom started to eat his dessert. He ate ice-cream out of a glass bowl. Suddenly, Tom cried loudly. He said, 'This ice-cream is too spicy!' Mrs. Lee looked at his ice-cream and said, 'This is not ice cream. This is spicy green wasabi!'

Mrs. Lee shouted loudly, 'Waiter!' A nice waiter said softly, 'Sorry, I will give you a cup of chocolate ice-cream for free.' Tom said, 'Thank you. You are nice.'

In the end, the Lees left feeling happy. They would come to this restaurant again. What an unforgettable day!

A Shopping Experience

By Huang Siu King, Tracy (4E)

On Monday morning, mum and Peter went to Tai Tai Market to buy some fruit. Peter felt happy and excited because mum would make a yummy cake for him.

After a short time, they saw the directory of the market. He saw meat on the ground floor. Vegetables were on the first floor. Fruit was on the second floor and so they went to the second floor. They saw many kinds of fruit there. Mum said, 'Let's find the apple stall.' 'Oh! It's here.' Mum pointed to the apple stall. When they approached, they saw a lady was already there choosing some good apples. Peter saw an apple as red as a one hundred-dollar note. He wanted to buy it. He felt happy because he thought soon he would be eating that apple in a yummy cake.

A few minutes later, Peter was bored. He looked around and saw a thief taking a lady's purse. Peter approached him and asked, 'What are you doing?' Immediately, the thief's face became as red as an apple. The thief ran fast, but the lady shouted loudly, and a policeman grabbed the thief.

At last, the thief was arrested. The thief was puzzled and scared. The lady thanked Peter so much.

Cinderella in 2015

By Lu Yan, Lucy (5A)

Cinderella was a nice girl. She had a step-sister, Anna. Anna was a mean and selfish girl. One day, Anna and Cinderella were invited to Prince Sam's birthday party. She did not let Cinderella go to the party. Cinderella was very angry and disappointed. She said loudly, 'Why don't you let me go?' Anna replied rudely, 'No you can't go! You should finish the ironing before I get back. 'See you!' Anna laughed but Cinderella was upset.

When Anna left, a magician with a gold necklace appeared in front of Cinderella. She was surprised. The magician said softly, 'I'm your fairy godmother. I grant you a wish. Cinderella said "I want to go to the party". The magician said, "Put on this red dress and Let's go to the farewell party by this white horse together but you have to be back by midnight. Cinderella shouted excitedly, 'Fantastic!' She got dressed and thanked the magician.

In the party, Cinderella met Prince Sam. He was a cute boy. He wore a suit with a tie. He invited Cinderella to dance and sing with him. At midnight, Cinderella left suddenly. As she left hurriedly, she dropped a silver ring.

After a while, Prince Sam found the ring. He looked at the ring and said to his friend Kenny, 'Please help me to find Cinderella. Kenny said "I will make a poster"! Maybe when she sees the poster, she will come here to get her silver ring.' Prince Sam replied, 'What a good idea!' Kenny made a poster quickly.

The next day, Cinderella saw the poster and went to Prince Sam's palace. She saw that many people tried on the silver ring. Finally, It was Cinderella's turn. It fitted her perfectly. Prince Sam said happily, 'Wow! I found Cinderella! What a wonderful day!' Finally, Prince Sam and Cinderella danced happily. They loved each other and they lived happily thereafter.

A Special Experience

By Jenny Chow (5B)

One day in the afternoon, May, Tom and Bill went to a forest in Sai Kung. They decided to do some voluntary work. They planted trees in the forest and were happy.

They dug holes and planted trees in the mud. After a while, they found a treasure box. They were surprised and excited.

Suddenly, the treasure box opened and two fairies flew out of the box. Tom shouted, 'Run quickly! They are monsters!' At the same time, the fairies said softly, 'Don't be afraid! We are good fairies. Thank you for saving us. Now, you can make a wish.' The children were pleased and excited. The children wanted the fairies help them plant all the trees.

The fairies waved their magic wands and said the magic spell, 'Abracadabra!' A few minutes later, the fairies grew all the trees. The children felt very happy. What a special day!

My Family

By Juliana Chu (5C)

I would like to share about my family . I live in Fanling. I live with my mum, dad, brother, sister and a helper. My dad is a businessman. My mum is a housewife. My sister and my brother are students.

I feel happy and warm at home. I love my sister very much. I like playing the piano. My sister likes playing the piano too. She plays it softly so I feel relaxed. She also helps me to do my homework and checks it for me. Sometimes she helps me to revise dictation and reads books to me. When she talks on the phone, she talks softly.

Sometimes I feel uncomfortable at home because my brother eats noisily. He does not have good table manners. My mum takes a long time to get ready. She also puts on make up and so she is always late for meetings at work. If she's getting late for work, she gets angry. My helper is careless. She always burns my father's clothes while ironing because she forgets to switch off the Iron.

I am helpful and patient with my family members. I try to help them for housework. I like my family very much because they all love me and take good care of me. I think I behave well at home because I always talk softly. I wish I can be a responsible girl.

My Superhero

By Ou Tsz Yiu Kelly (5D)

I know a lot of heroes but my superhero lives with me. Can you guess? It's my mum.

My mum is a housewife. She is 39 years old. She has an oval face with long straight hair. She has bright eyes and a small nose. I think she is beautiful and very strong. She can carry two school bags by herself. My mum likes eating vegetables very much and has a well-built body.

My mum is very helpful too. I remember that one day, when I was walking on the street with her, we saw a little beggar. The little beggar looked dirty and ugly, I didn't like him so I tried to run away. But my mum stopped and gave him some money to buy food. She likes helping people when they need help. Also, my mum is smart. When I didn't know how to do my homework, she always taught me to do it. I think she is my private teacher.

Apart from this, my mum is a great cook. She won a prize in a cooking competition. She helped the poor people too. When I was 4, she went to Guizhou to help the poor people. I'm proud of her. I've learnt to be helpful and helped more poor people. I love my superhero!

Activities at the Cheung Chau Bun Festival

By Hau Cheuk Ling, Cherry (6A)

On the twenty eighth of April, Tom and Mary were very bored. Their father, Mr Lam suggested, 'Tom, Mary, let's go to Cheung Chau because today is Cheung Chau Bun Festival.' Tom and Mary felt very delighted so they packed their bags. They brought some bottles of water, a cell phone and some money.

They decided to go to the beach first. There were a lot of people on the beach because it was a holiday. Tom swam with his father. Mary built sandcastles with her mother. They felt overjoyed.

After that, they went to the market for shopping. They saw an old woman who had a lot of lucky buns. Mrs Lam explained to Mary and Tom that those were lucky buns. Tom and Mary did not pay attention to Mrs Lam because the lucky buns looked very yummy.

In the evening, there was a Bun Tower Climbing Competition. Tom and Mary saw a very tall and big bun tower. They thought that the activity was exciting.

At last, three women climbed up the tower and one of the women was Tom and Mary's aunt. Their aunt bought some lucky buns for them. They felt joyful and shouted happily, 'Hurray! Cheung Chau Bun Festival is so much fun!'

Alice's Adventure in the Forest

By Chin Cheuk Ying, Ivy (6B)

Once upon a time, a girl called Alice lived in a forest with her mother and father. Alice was hard-working. She always helped her family do the housework. She was as beautiful as a flower too. However, she did not have friends, so she only played on her own. One day, she read a book in the forest. Suddenly, she felt very tired. Then, she slept. After a short while, she woke up and saw a rabbit. The rabbit said, 'Oh! I'm late! I think Queen is very angry now!' The rabbit ran faster and faster. Alice felt that the rabbit was so cute and she shouted, 'Hello, what is your name? You are so cute!' The rabbit replied, 'Hi! I'm Ricky Rabbit. How about you?' Alice said, 'I'm Alice.' Ricky Rabbit said, 'What a wonderful name! Oh no! I need to go to work now because I'm late.'

See you!' Alice felt very curious. She followed Ricky Rabbit.

In the forest, Alice got lost. She was afraid. Then she saw a giant cave. Ricky Rabbit jumped into the cave. Alice cried and said, 'Where am I? Wait!' Alice jumped into the cave too. In the cave, Alice felt dizzy and got a headache. She fainted.

Alice opened her eyes. It was the next morning. She stood up and looked at the things all around her. She saw a castle, a big special castle. She said, 'What a special castle? But where am I?' 'This is your dream. Here is your dream garden,' a voice replied her. Alice turned her body and saw Ricky Rabbit. Alice said, 'My dream? Can I do anything I want? This is so great!' After Alice finished talking, she picked some flowers.

Suddenly, a woman shouted at Alice, 'You naughty girl. You picked flowers from my garden. You have to replant all the flowers. Ricky Rabbit, why are you here?’ Ricky Rabbit said, ‘Oh! Queen! I woke up late. I’m so sorry.’ Alice was amazed. She said, ‘She is the queen. This ugly woman? I think that this is not my dream.’ Alice laughed at the queen. At that time, a dinosaur flew at Alice. She was scared. She said, ‘I’m sorry, Queen. I shouldn’t laugh at you.’ The queen was complacent. Alice and Ricky Rabbit were so scared.

The dinosaur ejected fire at Alice. Ricky Rabbit told Alice, ‘This dinosaur is the Queen’s pet. It can breathe fire. I think you can kill it because it is your dream. You can do anything you want.’ Alice said, ‘I can kill the dinosaur? Hey! Don’t play! That thing is so big, but I’m so small. Are you playing a joke on me?’ Ricky Rabbit said, ‘ Yes, you can! I’ll give you a sword and a shield. You run to the tower and jump down. Then, you can kill the dinosaur.’ Alice replied, ‘Ok! Do you know what? I encountered three strange things!

First, I saw a rabbit who can talk. Second, I saw an ugly queen. Third, I can kill a dinosaur.' Then, Alice ran to the tower and jumped down. She stuck the sword in the dinosaur's head. Then, the dinosaur died.

At last, Ricky Rabbit opened a tube and sent Alice home. Alice opened her eyes again. She went home! She went there on foot. She didn't go to the forest again. She would never forget this journey.

A Frightening Trip

By Chitoo Wai Shan Kitty (6C)

Yesterday morning, Tim and I wanted to go to the museum because it was Tim's birthday and we had free tickets to visit the museum. We went there by taxi as it's a long way to walk to the museum. We first went to the Ancient Egypt Exhibition Hall. "Max, I want to go to the toilet." Tim said. "Okay! I'll go in first and wait for you in the hall." I said.

Then I went into the Ancient Egypt Exhibition Hall. There was a mummy in a coffin. I was very excited because I hadn't seen a mummy before. I took a photo of the mummy. A security guard stopped me. All of a sudden, I thought of an idea. I went to the washroom quietly and took some tissue paper. I wrapped my body with the tissue paper. "I can dress like a mummy myself," I thought.

I came out of the toilet and waited for Tim. Tim came out from the washroom. When he saw me, I said, "I'm a mummy. I am going to eat you up..." "Tim cried, "No! Don't come near me." He was very frightened.

I tore the tissue paper. Tim saw that it was me and said, "Max. I was so afraid. But now I am relieved. This is the most unforgettable birthday gift for me." "Really? Let's go and look at the real mummy in the exhibition hall." I suggested.

We both had a happy and surprising trip.

Captain Cruel's Adventure in the Sea

By Huang Suet Ying, Irene 6D

Once upon a time, there was a greedy pirate who was called Captain Cruel. He had a pet with him, Peter Parrot. They lived together. They were good friends. Captain Cruel was the leader of the pirates but he still wanted to be the wealthiest person in the world.

Captain Cruel set off for a faraway island on his large pirate ship. It was new-fashioned with colourful flags, beautiful decorations and lifelike drawings. He owned a lot of jewelry, so he had much money. However, he didn't know he should be content with one's lot. He wanted more and more money! He went to an island to find a treasure. Both he and Peter were looking forward to it. No one had been there, they were the first ones.

When they arrived, their feelings changed. Why? They saw a scary, dark forest! The trees were tall and fondant, unlike the little grass on the ground. Peter Parrot was happy to be back 'home' but Captain Cruel felt uncomfortable with it. Although he disliked it, he couldn't give up his adventure. He was really 'cruel'. He wanted to cut all the trees down and kill all the animals in the forest! Peter Parrot and Captain Cruel went on to find a cave for a rest.

After a while, they discovered a deep cave. They were excited and thought, 'Is the treasure hidden in here?' They walked into the cave carefully. Suddenly, a troll appeared in front of them! They were shocked and paralyzed with fear. Captain Cruel noticed the treasure box was in the troll's hand, he grabbed it but did not succeed. He argued with the troll for a long time. Peter Parrot just sat on the tree, looking at them silently. Soon the argument turned into a fight. They hit, kicked and pushed each other.

Of course, Captain Cruel couldn't kill the troll because the troll could do magic. Captain Cruel was very sad that he had two broken legs! Captain Cruel and Peter Parrot stared at the treasure box which was in the troll's hand, with all the money, gold and jewelry inside. They felt sad, like eating a bitter gourd.

Activities at the Cheung Chau Bun Festival

By Chan Wing Lam, Suki (6D)

Last Sunday was the Cheung Chau Bun Festival. The Wong family had a great day on Cheung Chau island.

On that day, Dad said to his children, "Today is the Cheung Chau Bun Festival. Let's go to Cheung Chau to enjoy this festival!" Tom and Kate had never been to Cheung Chau so they were over the moon. They nodded their heads and said excitedly, "I can't wait! Let's go!" Mum also agreed and said, "We need to go there by ferry. Don't forget to bring the camera!" The Wong family were glad and they went to Cheung Chau in a happy mood.

The Wong family soon arrived at Cheung Chau. Dad suggested going to the beach first. Tom and Kate agreed and they rushed to the beach together. At the beach, Kate and Mum enjoyed the sunshine. They felt relaxed. Tom and Dad built a sandcastle and they put a flag on the top of it. They were proud of their sandcastle.

In the afternoon, the Wong family went to the stall to buy some traditional food. They went to a bun stall and Kate asked the name of the bun. Mum pointed at it and said, "People call these buns 'lucky buns'. There is a myth that these buns can bring us luck. Maybe it is where the name of the bun came from." Kate and Tom asked their mum to buy some buns for them.

At midnight, a lot of people gathered at the tower. The Wong family went there to see what happened. "Look! Three women are climbing up the tower and collecting buns!" said Tom. Dad explained, "It's the Bun Tower Climbing Competition. The one who collects the most buns will be the champion." At last, a woman won the competition. People shouted 'Hurray' and clapped their hands excitedly.

The Wong family had a fantastic day on Cheung Chau island. Tom and Kate now knew more about the Cheung Chau Bun Festival. They felt pleased.

Helping the Elderly

By Ou Yee Tung, Kawaii (6D)

I am writing this article because people are always ignoring the problems of the elderly. Also, the children of the elderly do not take care of their old parents. They even make them feel sad or lonely. Now, we should help them and try to make them happier.

Did you know that many old people cannot take care of themselves? Maybe you don't know because you don't care about them. They have this problem because they have no money or people ignore their health and living. Then, how can we help them?

It is very easy. We can visit some elderly who live alone. We can also make some cakes or cookies for them. They would be very excited. Besides, we can visit the old people's homes. We can bring food to them.

Besides going to the old people's homes, we can collect some clothes for the elderly. We can collect clothes in our estates. If some elderly are very bored, we can bring them to the park and join in some activities with them. We can help make their lives more meaningful!

Apart from these, we can help them with the housework like cleaning the kitchen, sweeping the floor and washing the dishes. I don't think these chores are very easy to do. They are difficult. Then you will know why the elderly are very tired after doing the housework.

Some elderly's legs or hands are weak. Therefore, we can help them buy something they need. If they are not good at cooking, you may help them cook some food. Remember, don't cook some junk food or unhealthy food for the elderly. That is not good for their health.

The elderly are waiting for your help! Don't hesitate! Take action now! Just a little help can make a great difference! Lend a helping hand!

A Concert

By Fu Ka Wah Andy (6E)

Last Sunday evening, Kathy watched a concert with her family. Kathy and her family were Sam Hui's fans so they wanted to watch his concert. They felt excited.

After they reached Hong Kong Coliseum, they saw many large posters of Sam Hui. It was crowded so they waited for about fifteen minutes to get in.

After a while, they sat in the first row. They were looking forward to seeing Sam Hui. He was handsome. Then Sam and several dancers appeared on the stage and they started to perform. The audience felt great. At the end of the show, the audience shouted excitedly, 'Encore! Encore!' Sam replied, 'Okay.'

Then Sam walked towards Kathy and asked Kathy, 'May I?' Kathy was surprised, 'It's my pleasure.' Some of the audience said, 'Wow! She is lucky!' After they danced for a while, Sam asked Kathy to sing along. Although Kathy couldn't sing well, Sam gave her a kiss. Kathy felt embarrassed. Then, she went back to her seat.

Kathy said, 'What a memorable concert! I will never forget this wonderful evening!'
